Dance Floor Etiquette

Following dance floor etiquette rules helps everyone to have fun.

Dance counterclockwise around the floor. Try not to back up, but if you have to for some reason, look behind you first.

Leaders – look where you are going, and be prepared for the unexpected (like the couple in front of you who didn't look before they backed up).

Slower dancers should move towards the inside of the dance floor, allowing faster dancers to pass them on the outside. If there's a large space between you and the couple in front, either move to the inside, or speed up to close the gap. Don't dance recklessly: faster dancers should not move faster than they can safely go. When doing complicated moves that don't travel forward, move towards the center of the floor.

West coast swing dancers should leave room on the outside of the dance floor for other dancers. Similarly, traveling dancers should steer clear of the line of west coast swing dancers, being especially alert at either end of the dance floor. We also request you don't do couples dancing on the main floor during line dances.

If you bump into someone, smile and apologize. If someone bumps into you, smile and apologize. If you find yourself apologizing all the time, maybe the problem isn't just everybody else. If you find yourself smiling all the time, well, good.

If you are not dancing, don't stand on the dance floor; stand close to the wall to maximize our dance floor space. Don't carry drinks onto the dance floor. Report spills immediately.

Finally, there is no excuse for "road rage" on the dance floor. If you see someone breaking the rules, let it go. Maybe he isn't aware of the rules, maybe she's trying her best, but it's unlikely he really is a jerk who simply enjoys getting in your way. We all make mistakes, and we all have our faults. Just smile, and apologize.
